

Professional in Human Resources (PHR) Course Syllabus 26 Hours

Course Description

The Professional in Human Resources coursework provides knowledge pertaining to the Human Resources industry. To become certified, students must meet strict professional experience and educational requirements before taking the exam. To remain certified, students must stay current in the HR profession and recertify every three years. This course covers the objectives for the certification exams:

- Professional in Human Resources (PHR)

Learning Objectives

Upon completion of the course, students will understand:

- Key skills required of HR professionals, including ability to lead and motivate others, concepts and applications, ethics and professional organization standards; how to perform environmental scans and discuss organizational structures
- Current business and regulatory environments; how a working knowledge of those areas allow HR professionals to be key contributors in development, implementation, and evaluation of the organization's strategic plan
- Development, implementation, and assessment of affirmative action plans and other equal opportunity considerations
- Best approaches to internal and external recruitment, with a focus on key recruitment sources such as job postings, referrals, and various types of candidates, such as active and semi-active
- Key elements of an organization's orientation, onboarding, and exit strategies, including how to deal with challenges commonly encountered when implementing onboarding programs, and how to measure success of employee onboarding programs
- Key components of Human Resource Development (HRD), along with key federal legislation that affects HRD activities – both their development and delivery – as well as OD theories and applications and provides direction to HR professionals on how to approach OD initiatives to ensure they support organizational objectives
- The importance and impact of compensation and benefits programs on their organizational objectives, and how to budget and account for compensation and benefits programs
- Non-cash compensation methods such as equity programs and non-cash rewards, as well as common benefits programs such as health coverage and employee assistance programs (EAPs)
- Process, subjects of, and approaches for collective bargaining between unions and employers, as well as best practices for strikes, picketing, and secondary boycotts as the legal means of protest by employees
- The steps in risk management process and risk management strategies in terms of business continuity planning and liability insurance, as well as the most important employee health and safety regulation for HR professionals, the Occupational Safety and Health Act
- Workplace privacy issues, privacy policy, and concerns of employees and employers with regard to privacy
- Various aspects of employee safety issues, programs, health hazards, and employee assistance and wellness programs that HR professionals should be aware of through outlining security risk analysis and programs used to avoid future emergencies

Course Completion Requirements

Professional in Human Resources coursework is due within 90 days from the assignment date. The course hours listed at the top of the syllabus reflect the time it would take to click through the slides and do not account for taking notes or the end of module tests. For the aPHR and PHR certifications, you must complete both modules in Topic 1, all three modules in Topic 2, all seven modules in Topic 3, all three modules in Topic 4, all three modules in Topic 5, all three modules in Topic 6, and both modules in Topic 7. For the SPHR certification you will also need to complete both modules in Topic 8. Successful completion of a module is marked after you review the lesson videos and score 80% or higher on the end of module tests.

At the beginning of a module, you will be asked to take a pre-test. Scoring 80% or higher on the pre-test signifies competence in the information that will be covered; you will therefore be waived from completing the module. A non-credit certificate of completion will be awarded for successful completion of the coursework.

Industry Certification Requirements

In order for the program to fund your PHR certification exam you will need to meet the associated practice exam requirements. Your advisor or O2O program coordinator will provide you with access to the practice exams as well as completion instructions once you have finished the coursework.
